América Corrales is the youngest of six children born in Culiacán, Sinaloa. América spent her childhood by her mother's side, and much of that time was spent in the kitchen.

América was preparing meals for her four older brothers and sister as early as nine years old.

América moved from Culiacán at the age of fourteen after her mother passed and lived with her oldest brother Ricardo and sister-in-law Claudia.

In 1999 América met her future husband who has 26 years restaurant experience. After nine years of eating all of the great food prepared by América, they finally did what they talked about for those nine years. The dream came alive when they opened América's Taco Shop "The Home of the greatest Carne Asada in the Valley!"
